GREETINGS FROM THE EAST

Brothers,
for some reason the concept of Masonic connections has been on my mind lately. Perhaps it is because my new position of Worshipful Master requires me to call on Brothers so often to ask them to help with various tasks. Perhaps it is the fact that the only reason any Brother might say yes to my requests is out of their love for Masonry and their dedication to the Craft. Or, perhaps it is because of the fact that I can always count on any one of our Past Masters for advice on any issue I am uncertain about to find out how it has been handled in the past, thereby relying on my connection with the traditions carried on by generations of Masters before me. Although, there is one thing in particular that I think might be most responsible for my current preoccupation with this concept – we were recently contacted by a Lodge in New Zealand, informing us that one of their Brothers was currently in Scottsdale for cancer treatment.

On a busy Thursday, when I would usually be preparing for our regular Lodge meeting, I broke away to visit this Brother in the hospital. I walked into the hospital room to see a very kindly older gentleman lying in bed, and his wife sitting by his side. He was in good spirits, but in his current condition, this Brother was not exactly talkative. The real conversation took place with his wife. She was overjoyed to have a Mason visit her husband of course, but was also very relieved to know that there was someone they could turn to, should the need arise, while they were so far from home at such a difficult time. I could see that our Masonic connection was extremely comforting for her, and because of it, she

GREETINGS FROM THE WEST

"Connections"

A connection is when two or more things come together. What is a lodge? I think it is the trusted place where brothers come together. Through our fraternity I am connected to my brothers and to their families. Through the lodge I am spiritually connected to my relatives who "labored in the quarries" before me. My wife, on our first date recognized my ring. She asked, and I told her about my Masonic life. And then she shared her Masonic life with me. We were connected through the lodge. Through the lodge I connected with trusted friends when I moved over two thousand miles from my last quarry when I moved to Arizona. There is not a day that I don't have a significant connection with a brother or a brother's family; whether it be through my work, my friends or my family. I am blessed and appreciative of the value that being a Mason brings to my quality of life, and my family's quality of life as my daughters are too connected to the lodge. As a Mason, I know that surrounding myself with Masons I am "working" with men that have been vetted in the first place and are committed to becoming even better men. The lodge connects me to a synergistic nucleus of really good people.

DeMolay

We are currently considering the possibility of restarting our Scottsdale chapter of DeMolay. All we need is adult advisers and boys between the ages of 12 and 18. If you have an interest in assisting in the formation of this chapter, please email our Secretary at secretary@scottsdale43.com.

and her husband were not so alone and not so far from home after all.

She also related to me that the New Zealand city they were from was a Sister City to Scottsdale, and told me that she had contacted her local government and asked them to contact the City of Scottsdale. In seeing how important these connections were to her, I realized how important these connections must be to everyone, and how important it is for us as Masons to honor these connections and to live up to our reputation as a sacred band or society of friends and Brothers. It is almost effortless to do so, and can affect someone's life immeasurably.

My story ends with a delightful ride to the airport where myself and another Brother from Scottsdale dropped-off our New Zealand Brother and his wife for their flight home. On that ride we got to show them a little more of our beautiful city that they did not get to see, and found out a little more about their lives in New Zealand. I left them with our Lodge pin which, coincidentally, has the Masonic square and compass and the Scottsdale logo - an emblem of both connections we will share with them forever - and they left me with a renewed dedication to our Masonic calling of Brotherly love, Relief and Truth.

GREETINGS

FROM THE SOUTH

Recently, I had a discussion with a brother concerning the journey in masonry. In particular, we were talking about when a brother should investigate appendant bodies like the Scottish and York rites. Everyone has a slightly different journey in our fraternity, however, sometimes we are asked for advice as to which path to take. When I am approached with this question, I usually answer with a question, "What are you looking for in Masonry?" Often the answer is "Light." Lets examine what this means. Light in Masonry as we know is knowledge. That being said, where does the light of blue lodge end? Does it end? Personally, I believe we can always learn from blue lodge. I am reminded of a brother speaking out in lodge and he said, "I have been a Mason for many decades, I have seen many degrees and I still learn from them." This being the case. I truly believe the more light that is gained from blue lodge will only help in the rest of a brother's path. It is important to encourage our newest brothers to examine all that masonry has to offer.

From the Senior Deacon

Brethren,

Connection: A relationship in which a person, thing, or idea is linked or associated with something else.

One of the beautiful aspects of Masonry I adore is the ability to make connections with genuine individuals who share similar values as mine. We are an organization of like minded individuals that meet on the level of truth and part on the square of trust.

The Lodge is where we meet with Brothers whom we share ideals, ideas and concepts with. The Lodge also serves another purpose; a place where we are also able to make that spiritual connection with our Maker. We connect, reaffirm and practice our faith.

Mason's should always remember those most important tenants which make our connection most sacred; Brotherly love, relief and truth.

TECHNOLOGY

Technology is a useful servant, but a dangerous master.

Technology, simply put, is a process stimulating potential progress; what was, what is, what will be life in a society which is hugely dependent upon science and technology. Technical advances show no good or evil intentions...It's how you use it. One thing certain, the character of technology that will never change, is change.

Recognize personal want and need, weigh importance, and calculate potential. Science and technology have changed many things, but it is human memories and tradition that will constitute the response.

Technology spends much talent and time on accelerating communication. Verbal communication, the ability to listen and learn remains the X factor to mastering communication.

Use technology wisely to exercise verbal skills, or someday a blown fuse will end a technical operated conversation, published words, and vital activities.

TRESTLEBOARD DELIVERY

Since the vast majority of Brothers now have Email access and use the internet, you can help the Lodge reduce the cost by electing to get your Trestleboard via Email only.

YOUR MAILED TRESTLEBOARD WILL CONTINUE, UNLESS YOU OPT OUT OF THE MAILINGS.

Additionally, the Trestleboard is placed on the Lodge website. By selecting the electronic option, you get to read the Trestle Board two weeks before those who have to wait for printing, processing, labeling, and the US Mail (assuming we have your latest address).

TO MAKE THE CHANGE, SEND YOUR REQUEST VIA EMAIL TO THE SECRETARY AT:

Lodge Phone (480) 946-1072

Thank you in advance for helping.

Have you checked out this website?

In an ongoing effort to keep in touch with the Masons of Arizona, the Social Media Committee of the Grand Lodge of Arizona has launched an online Social Media monthly newsletter to recap some of the items each month that are trending around the State.

We hope that it will encourage communication and share knowledge around the State while also giving another outlet to the activities of our many Lodges in Arizona. As is the case with Social Media, we intend for it to be enjoyable and informative and hope that it will grow and adapt to the needs and wants of our Craft as it progresses.
